CONFERENCE OUTLINE

The European Materials Research Society (E-MRS) was established in 1983 through the initiative of individual European Material Scientists. A number of European materials scientists who attended the MRS meeting in the U.S.A. realized that such a society could be a benefit to Europe to enhance the links between materials science and industry and to provide a voice for the materials community. Both the E-MRS Spring and Fall Meetings provide an international forum to discuss recent advances in the field of materials science. The conference will consist of:

- ✓ About 22 parallel symposia,
- ✓ Plenary session with the presentation of the Juan Czocharlski Award,
- ✓ An Exhibition of products and services of interest to the conference participants,
- ✓ Satellite events

SCOPE

Electrochemical energy storage is a rapidly advancing field building on a continuous stream of innovative ideas. As renewable energy sources become increasingly prevalent the need for high energy-density, high- power storage devices with long cycle lives is greater than ever. The development of suitable materials for these devices begins with a complete understanding of the complex processes that govern energy storage and conversion spanning many orders of magnitude in length and time scales. The focus of this meeting is to bring together all aspects of batteries and electrochemical storage devices across multiple scales, from modelling and nanoscale characterization to full-scale battery construction and testing regimes. An interdisciplinary selection of speakers will cover this broad range of topics to develop an overview of the current research and challenges in the battery field. The intention is to bring together the international community working on the subjects and to enable effective interactions between research and engineering communities. Although a Europe-bound event, participation is invited from all continents. It provides an excellent opportunity for scientists, engineers and manufactures to present recent technical progress and products, to establish new contacts in the appreciated networking events and to exchange scientific and technical information. The symposium is structured in nine different sections covering diagnostic techniques and systems design/components.

HOT TOPICS

- LITHIUM ION CELLS
- NON LITHIUM TECHNOLOGIES
